Subj: WELCOME ABOARD FALL 2022

1. Congratulations on your decision to attend Texas A&M University and join the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC)! By enrolling in the NROTC program, you are joining the best and largest NROTC unit in the nation.

2. Enclosed are your New Student Conference Information Packet and NROTC enrollment paperwork. Please take the time to read the packet; it will assist you in your transition to Texas A&M, the NROTC unit, and the Corps of Cadets. Participation in the Corps of Cadets is mandatory for all NROTC students. The enrollment paperwork includes several forms that need to be filled out and returned to us in a timely fashion to facilitate your enrollment. It is preferred that you return this completed package to our staff at your New Student Conference. Included in the paperwork is a three-page medical history questionnaire that needs to be signed by a physician. The Corps of Cadets has a separate medical history form requiring a physician's signature. I recommend you take both questionnaires to the same doctor's appointment for signature.

3. As you prepare to enter Texas A&M and the Corps of Cadets, you are embarking on an exciting phase of your life which starts in August with Freshmen Orientation Week (FOW). FOW is your opportunity to become oriented to the Texas A&M Corps of Cadets and to make final preparations to begin college classes. You will receive additional details from the Corps of Cadets concerning FOW. FOW is physically and mentally demanding. Included are Navy and Marine Corps physical fitness requirements to help you prepare.

4. If you have any questions, Navy Options should contact Lieutenant Bentley at andrew.bentley@navy.tamu.edu and Marine Corps Options should contact Captain Quandt at kquandt@navy.tamu.edu. 5. Welcome Aboard, I am looking forward to you joining our team. Gig 'Em and Semper Fidelis!
